This attachment is intended to be given to the Seller prior to consummation of a Seller Financing Addendum for a consumer credit * transaction.

THIS ATTACHMENT IS NOT PART OF THE SELLER FINANCING ADDENDUM'S TERMS.

* Consumer Credit means credit offered or extended to a consumer primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

MESSAGE TO SELLER

You are entering into a complex transaction governed by many State and Federal laws. Real estate brokers are not qualified, nor licensed, to ensure that the terms of your Seller Financing Addendum comply with these laws. You are advised to carefully read the below disclosures and consult with qualified licensed professionals to ensure that the terms of your Seller Financing Addendum comply with all applicable State and Federal laws.

LOAN ORIGINATION DISCLOSURE

Sellers originating a residential consumer loan must be registered and/or licensed as mortgage loan originators unless exempt under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act.

The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the "Dodd-Frank Act") mandates that a loan originator for a consumer credit transaction secured by an owner occupied dwelling must, when required by applicable State or Federal laws, be registered and/or licensed in accordance with those laws, including the Secure and Fair Enforcement for Mortgage Licensing Act (the "S.A.F.E. Act").

Although the definition of a "loan originator" under the Dodd-Frank Act is broad in scope, there exist two categories of seller financing excluded from the "loan originator" definition.

Requirements of the first exemption include all of the following: (1) the Seller originates consumer financing for only one property in any 12-month period; (2) the Seller is a natural person, estate, or trust; (3) the Seller has not constructed, or acted as a contractor for the construction of, a residence on the property as part of their ordinary course of business; (4) the financing does not result in negative amortization; and (5) the financing has a fixed rate or does not adjust for the first five years.

OF

Requirements of the second exemption include all of the following: (1) the Seller originates consumer financing for no more than three residential properties in any 12-month period; (2) the Seller is a natural person, or an organization, including a partnership, corporation, proprietorship, association, cooperative, trust, estate, or government unit; (3) the Seller has not constructed, or acted as a contractor for the construction of, a residence on the property as part of their ordinary course of business; (4) the loan is fully amortizing; (5) the financing has a fixed rate or does not adjust for the first five years; and (6) the Seller has determined that the borrower has the reasonable ability to repay the loan according to its terms per 12 CFR § 1026.43(c), which is available at www.consumerfinance.gov/eregulations/1026-43/2013-30108_20150718#1026-43-c.

Before consummating this transaction, it is the sole and exclusive duty of you, the Seller, to verify whether you are a "loan originator" as defined by the Dodd-Frank Act thereby requiring you to be registered and/or licensed in accordance with applicable State or Federal laws.

HOEPA DISCLOSURE

Sellers originating a high cost mortgage as defined by the Home Ownership and Equity Protection Act may need to be registered and/or licensed as mortgage loan originators.

The Home Ownership and Equity Protection Act ("HOEPA") applies to most types of consumer credit transactions secured by a consumer's principal residence. Before concluding if you, the Seller, are exempt from the definition of a "loan originator," you must determine whether the transaction you are originating is subject to HOEPA coverage, and if so, whether the transaction is covered by the high-cost mortgage provisions of HOEPA.

Sellers originating a high-cost mortgage may not be exempt from the definition of a "loan originator," meaning that you, the Seller, would need to be registered and/or licensed in accordance with applicable State or Federal laws before engaging in the business of residential mortgage loan origination.

The complete 2013 HOEPA rule, including the Official Interpretations, is available at www.consumerfinance.gov/regulations/high-cost-mortgage-and-homeownership-counseling-amendments-to-regulation-z/.

SELLER FINANCING ADDENDUM

CONSUMER CREDIT TRANSACTION SECURED BY A DWELLING*

Document updated: February 2014

Seller Providing Financing for Only One Residential Owner Occupied Property in Any 12-Month Period

*Dwelling means a residential structure that contains one to four units. The term includes an individual condominium unit, cooperative unit, manufactured home and mobile home, if it is used as a residence. (An Arizona real estate licensee is permitted to act in the sale of a used mobile home when the mobile home is installed on the real property and listed in a contract for transfer of an interest in real property executed by its owner. A.R.S. § 41-2178(B)(1).)
