TRID Changes to AAR Forms

BY MARTHA APPEL, 2015 ARIZONA ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® RISK MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE CHAIR

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) published the TILA-RESPA Integrated Disclosure rule (TRID) which combines and replaces disclosures that consumers receive in connection with applying for and closing on a mortgage loan under the Truth in Lending Act (TILA) and the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA). The proposed effective date for TRID is October 3, 2015.

As Chair of the workgroup charged with implementing the TRID compliant changes, it is my pleasure to inform you that the Arizona Association of REALTORS® has revised four forms to ensure their compliance with the new rule. Those forms are: (1) Pre-Qualification Form; (2) Loan Status Update; (3) Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract; and (4) Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract. The revised forms will be released in mid to late September.

Highlighted below are the major TRID related changes to each of the forms.

Pre-Qualification Form

The Pre-Qualification Form is now required to be submitted in conjunction with the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract (Contract) at the time of offer. If a buyer has not consulted with a lender when submitting a Contract, the buyer should simply check the box at line 3 and complete only lines 4-5.

Loan Status Update (LSU)

The initial LSU must be delivered within “ten (10) days after Contract acceptance” instead of “five (5)” days. The reason for this is because TRID requires that a Loan Estimate must be completed by the lender and provided to the borrower three days after the borrower provides to the lender six pieces of information (loan application). And, because lenders have to abide by this timeframe, providing the LSU within five days of contract acceptance would prove very difficult.

Because of the new TRID requirements, page 2 of the LSU now identifies additional steps in the lending process. Those steps include the following: (1) the lender receiving the six loan application pieces of information from the buyer; (2) the lender sending the buyer the Loan Estimate; (3) the buyer indicating to the lender an intent to proceed with that lender; (4) the lender providing a Closing Disclosure to the buyer; and (5) the buyer’s receipt of the Closing Disclosure from the lender.

Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract

As stated above, Section 2a now requires the Pre-Qualification Form is now required to be submitted in conjunction with the Contract at the time of offer.

Section 2b now provides that, three days prior to close of escrow the Buyer must either: (i) sign all loan documents; or (ii) deliver to Seller or Escrow Company notice of loan approval without PTD conditions AND date(s) of receipt of Closing Disclosure(s) from Lender; or (iii) deliver to Seller or Escrow Company notice of inability to obtain loan approval without PTD conditions. The reason (ii) was added is because if the loan documents are not to the escrow company three days prior to the close of escrow, (ii) gives the Seller written assurance by the Buyer that their loan has been approved without PTD conditions, a Closing Disclosure has been issued and the loan documents are expected to be delivered and signed by the Buyer by the close of escrow date.

Additionally, section 2f requires the buyer to provide the lender with the "Buyer's name, income, social security number, Premises address, estimate of value of the Premises, and mortgage loan amount sought" within three days after Contract acceptance. The reason for this is because the above information (loan application) triggers TRID timelines and assures the seller that the buyer is moving forward with their financing.

Finally, on page 9 of the Contract, lines have been included for: (1) each salesperson's state license number; and (2) each firm's state license number. These changes were made because the new Closing Disclosure requires the state license number of the agents and their respective brokerage.

Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract

The Pre-Qualification Form is only required with the Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract if the buyer is using "Conventional, FHA, VA, or USDA financing." Additionally, as is now the case with the Contract, an LSU must be submitted within ten (10) days after Contract acceptance.

For more information on the changes to the forms, please see the FAQs on page 6.

Implementation of TRID Compliant AAR Forms

On September 28, 2015, zipForm will simultaneously post two versions of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract (RPC) and Pre-Qualification Form within the zipForm and dotloop libraries. The current RPC, dated June 2014, and revised TRID compliant RPC, dated September 2015, will both be active within zipForm for a period of five days. Then, on October 3, 2015, the June 2014 RPC will be removed, leaving only the September 2015 RPC. The same will be true for the Pre-Qualification Form.

From September 28, 2015 to October 3, 2015, REALTORS® will need to determine which version of the RPC and Pre-Qualification Form to utilize. In undertaking this analysis, the sole question that must be answered is whether the buyer's lender will receive a loan application prior to October 3rd. For transactions in which the lender receives a loan application prior to October 3rd, the HUD-1 Settlement Statement will still be used at close of escrow, meaning that the June 2014 RPC should be utilized. In the event that the buyer's lender receives the loan application on or after October 3rd, the REALTOR® should select the September 2015 RPC.

The remaining TRID compliant forms, the Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract and the Loan Status Update, revised versions of which will be dated September 2015, will be active in zipForm® and dotloop on October 3rd.

Finally, zipForm and dotloop users will note that revised versions of two additional forms will be posted on October 3rd: (1) the "AS IS" Addendum; and (2) the Short Sale Addendum to the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract. Neither of these forms were changed in any substantive way. Rather, the only changes made pertain to referenced line numbers within the RPC.

Summary

- Two different versions of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract (RPC) will be in zipForm® and dotloop® from September 28 – October 3.
  - When the lender receives a loan application prior to October 3rd, the June 2014 RPC should be used.
  - When the lender receives a loan application on or after October 3rd, the September 2015 RPC should be used.
- Two different versions of the Pre-Qualification Form will be in zipForm® and dotloop® from September 28 – October 3.
  - The Pre-Qualification Form dated February 2013 should be used with the June 2014 RPC.
  - The Pre-Qualification Form dated September 2015 should be used with the September 2015 RPC.
- Revised TRID compliant versions of the Loan Status Update and Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract will be available in zipForm® and dotloop® on October 3.

For more information as to what to expect on October 3rd, and to review the revised TRID compliant AAR forms, go to page 6.

F.A.Q.???

REVISED TILA-RESPA COMPLIANCE

By Scott Drucker, Esq. Arizona Association of REALTORS® General Counsel

In September 2015, the Arizona Association of REALTORS® will release revised versions of the following four forms: (1) Pre-Qualification Form; (2) Loan Status Update; (3) Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract; and (4) Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract. To better understand the changes made to these forms, the reason for the changes, and how the revised forms should be utilized, below are frequently asked questions (FAQs) followed by answers and pertinent analysis. Please read these FAQs carefully before viewing the sample forms below.

Q1: Why were these forms revised?

A1: The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) is implementing revised rules and forms that combine disclosures consumers receive in connection with applying for and closing on a mortgage loan. To ensure that AAR's forms comply with these rules and follow the new timelines, revisions were required.

Q2: In revising the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract and the Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract, were any changes made that are unrelated to the new TILA-RESPA Integrated Disclosure (TRID) rules imposed by the CFPB?

A2: No. At this time, the only changes made to these two contracts are those necessitated by the new TRID rules.

Q3: When do I need to start using these new forms?

A3: The new forms should be used in conjunction with transactions in which the lender receives a loan application after October 3, 2015.

Q4: Line 54 of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract now requires that an AAR Pre-Qualification Form be attached to the Contract. What should the buyer do if they have not yet obtained a Pre-Qualification form, but nonetheless wish to submit a purchase offer?

A4: Under these circumstances, the buyer should indicate on line three of the Pre-Qualification Form that "Buyer HAS NOT consulted with a lender." The buyer should then print their name on line four and sign and date on line five. If the box on line three is marked, the buyer does not complete lines six through 42 of the Pre-Qualification Form.

Q5: When must the buyer first deliver to seller a completed Loan Status Update?

A5: As evidenced by Section 2e of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract, an initial Loan Status Update must be delivered to the seller "within ten days after Contract acceptance." This is a change from the prior Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract, which required initial delivery of the Loan Status Update within five days after Contract acceptance.

Q6: What should a buyer do if their lender refuses to complete a Loan Status Update?

A6: As is currently the case, the buyer should complete, at a minimum, lines 1-40 of the Loan Status Update. The failure of the buyer's lender to complete the Loan Status Update is not a potential breach and, therefore, not subject to a cure period notice because the lender is not a party to the Contract.

Q7: Line 39 of the Loan Status Update states "Buyer commits to work with the above referenced Lender on the terms described herein." Is the term "commits to work with" synonymous with the term "intends to proceed" as used in 12 CFR §1026.19?

A7: No. Intends to proceed is a defined term of art by which a borrower communicates to the lender that they choose to proceed with the loan transaction after having received the Loan Estimate. A buyer can therefore commit to work with a lender via the Loan Status Update and not yet have given formal notice of intent to proceed. If that is the case, the buyer would sign on line 40 of the Loan Status Update, but the box on line 45 would be marked "NO" as that line asks if the "Buyer indicated to Lender an intent to proceed with the transaction after having received the Loan Estimate."

Q8: Section 2f of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract now requires the buyer, "within three days after Contract acceptance," to provide the lender with "Buyer's name, income, social security number, Premises address, estimate of value of the Premises, and mortgage loan amount sought." Why was this requirement inserted?

A8: The CFPB has defined a loan application as the borrower's submission to the lender of the above-referenced six pieces of information. Submission of the loan application triggers the lender's delivery of the Loan Estimate to the borrower, thereby beginning the timeline that will be followed through close of escrow. To ensure a timely closing, it is important that the timeline commence as early as possible, and for that reason, the borrower is now required to submit these six pieces of information to the lender within three days after Contract acceptance.

Q9: As part of their Loan Application, the borrower is required to provide the lender with an "estimate of value of the Premises," in addition to five other pieces of information. What does "estimate of value of the Premises" mean?

A9: The estimate of value of the Premises will typically be the contract price.

Q10: What action must the buyer take three days prior to close of escrow?

A10: Three days prior to close of escrow the Buyer must either: (i) sign all loan documents; or (ii) deliver to Seller or Escrow Company notice of loan approval without PTD conditions AND date(s) of receipt of Closing Disclosure(s) from Lender; or (iii) deliver to Seller or Escrow Company notice of inability to obtain loan approval without PTD conditions. See Section 2b of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract.

Q11: Why is it important for the seller to know the date(s) on which the buyer received the Closing Disclosure(s) from their lender?

A11: This information is important to the seller because it will help the seller understand when the transaction may close escrow. More specifically, the loan cannot be consummated (i.e. – execution of the promissory note and deed of trust) less than three business days after the Closing Disclosure is received by the buyer.

Q12: What changes were made to page nine of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract and page ten of the Vacant Land/Lot Purchase Contract? Why were these changes made?

A12: The last page of these two contracts now require the agent's state license number and the brokerage's state license number. Page five of the new Closing Disclosure contains a section titled "Contact Information." Within that section, the lender must enter the "State License ID" for the real estate agent and the "State License ID" for their Brokerage. This is a new requirement as this information did not appear on the HUD-1. By identifying these license numbers in the Contract, it will ensure that the lender is in possession of the information needed to properly complete the Closing Disclosure.

Q13: Lines 397 and 409 of the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract ask for the "Firm Address." If the agent works out of a branch location and not the corporate headquarters, which address should be entered?

A13: The address listed should be "the identified person's place of business where the primary contact for the transaction is located (usually the local office) rather than a general corporate headquarters address."

DOL Issues New Warning: Do Not Misclassify Workers As Independent Contractors

BY ART BOURQUE, ESQ., BOURQUE LAW FIRM, P.C.

The United States Department of Labor (DOL) and other government agencies are aggressively pursuing businesses who misclassify employees as independent contractors.

On July 15, 2015 the DOL announced that it will be further cracking down on businesses that misclassify workers. The DOL also provided guidance as to how businesses should determine whether workers are employees or independent contractors. This HR Law Insider edition helps businesses interpret the DOL's guidance in order to ensure compliance with the law (and avoid costly penalties).

THE DOL AND OTHER GOVERNMENT AGENCIES ARE ON A MISSION

On Monday the DOL proclaimed: "The DOL continues to receive numerous complaints from workers alleging misclassification, and the Department continues to bring successful enforcement actions against employers who misclassify workers. In addition, many states have acknowledged this problematic trend and have responded with legislation and misclassification task forces. Understanding that combating misclassification requires a multi-pronged approach, the DOL has entered into memoranda of understanding with many of these states, as well as the Internal Revenue Service. In conjunction with these efforts, the DOL believes that additional guidance regarding the application of the standards for determining who is an employee under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) may be helpful to the regulated community in classifying workers and ultimately in curtailing misclassification."

Thus, businesses should immediately evaluate all of their independent contractor relationships with counsel — ensuring that each relationship has been properly classified.

THE STANDARD TO DETERMINE WHETHER A WORKER IS AN EMPLOYEE OR INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR: THE DOL'S TEST FAVORS FINDING THAT WORKERS ARE EMPLOYEES

The FLSA's definition of "employ" includes to suffer or permit to work." This "suffer or permit" concept has broad applicability and is critical to determining whether a worker is an employee and thus entitled to the FLSA's protections. An "entity 'suffers or permits' an individual to work if, as a matter of economic reality, the individual is dependent on the entity."

The Supreme Court has developed a multi-factor "economic realities" test to determine whether a worker is an employee or an independent contractor under the FLSA. The factors typically include: (A) the extent to which the work performed is an integral part of the employer's business; (B) the worker's opportunity for profit or loss depending on his or her managerial skill; (C) the extent of the relative investments of the employer and the worker; (D) whether the work performed requires special skills and initiative; (E) the permanency of the relationship; and (F) the degree of control exercised or retained by the employer.

The DOL's guidance states that "applying the economic realities test, most workers are employees under the FLSA."

In undertaking the test, each factor is examined and analyzed in relation to one another, and no single factor is determinative. The factors should be considered in totality to determine whether a worker is economically dependent on the employer, and thus an employee. The factors should not be applied as a checklist, but rather the outcome must be determined by a qualitative rather than a quantitative analysis. The application of the economic realities factors is guided by the overarching principle that the FLSA should be liberally construed to provide broad coverage for workers, as evidenced by the Act's defining "employ" as "to suffer or permit to work."

In applying the economic realities factors, courts have described independent contractors as those workers with economic independence who are operating a business of their own. On the other hand, workers who are economically dependent on the employer, regardless of skill level, are employees covered by the FLSA. "Ultimately, in considering economic dependence, the court focuses on whether an individual is 'in business for himself' or is 'dependent upon finding employment in the business of others.'"

Conclusion

The DOL concluded its new guidance with the following message/warning to employers:

"In sum, most workers are employees under the FLSA's broad definitions. The very broad definition of employment under the FLSA as "to suffer or permit to work" and the Act's intended expansive coverage for workers must be considered when applying the economic realities factors to determine whether a worker is an employee or an independent contractor. The correct classification of workers as employees or independent contractors has critical implications for the legal protections that workers receive, particularly when misclassification occurs in industries employing low wage workers."

In my experience, the DOL has been true to its word: audits and penalties are on the rise. This week's DOL pronouncement is a clarion call to employers that enforcement will further increase. Companies should thus conduct audits with counsel now to either (1) reclassify improperly classified workers or (2) make changes that will cause improperly classified workers to properly fit within their existing classification.

CALLING ALL BROKERS

As a broker, have you ever wondered which one of your agents responds to the REALTOR® issued Calls For Action (CFA)? If so, wonder no more. In order for you to know which of your agents completed the CFA, you need to log-on using the link below to access the information. Once you have logged-in you will see a screen with an "Agent Report" button next to the Calls for Action category. In the most recent case, it is Stop Patent Trolls. It will show the agents who have NOT responded. So while it isn't a percentage, you can easily calculate the number of agents who haven't responded vs. the total number of agents within the company. As an added bonus, you can click on the link on the page of non-responding agents to send them a reminder email to complete the CFA.

Prepossession and Post Possession Risks

Prepossession and Post Possession agreements carry inherent risks and raise a variety of issues. However, there are times that a buyer would like to move into the property before close of escrow (prepossession) or the seller would like to stay in the property following close of escrow (post possession). For instance, the buyer's lease may be terminating before close of escrow, or the seller may not be able to move into their new home until after close of escrow. While these are situations that seemingly warrant prepossession or post possession of a property, both parties should be aware of the many issues that can arise in a prepossession or post possession. For that reason, Commissioner's Rule R4-28-1101(K) provides that "A salesperson or broker shall recommend to a client that the client seek appropriate counsel from insurance, legal, tax, and accounting professionals regarding the risks of prepossession or post possession of a property."

Because of the issues involved with prepossession or post possession of a property, a buyer and seller should enter into a written agreement so as to ensure the parties' rights and obligations are documented. Numerous times in the past, the Arizona Association of REALTORS® Risk Management Committee has considered requests to develop a "standard" prepossession and post possession agreement. However the committee has never approved the development of such a form due to the inherent risk and liability. Consequently, some brokers have developed prepossession or post possession agreement forms but many advise against the agreements altogether.

Prepossession

Typically, the seller is responsible for any damage to the property prior to close of escrow. However, in the event a buyer prepossesses the property, the buyer is now responsible. More specifically, the Purchase Contract at the "Seller Warranties" and "Risk of Loss" provisions provides that the seller is responsible only until close of escrow or possession, whichever is earlier. Accordingly, once the buyer prepossesses the property, the seller is no longer responsible for seller warranties or damage to the property because those obligations are terminated under the terms of the Purchase Contract.

If the buyer and seller opt to enter into a lease agreement for the prepossession, the parties' rights and obligations during the tenancy are now governed by the Arizona Residential Landlord and Tenant Act ("ARLTA"). This can be problematic as ARLTA provides that the landlord is responsible for maintaining fit premises. A.R.S. §33-1324. In other words, under ARLTA, the landlord/seller is responsible to ensure that the electrical, plumbing, and heating/cooling are in good and safe working condition during the tenant's tenancy. Thus, if the parties enter into a lease agreement, the seller is again responsible for the property despite the fact the seller has moved out and the home is now exclusively occupied by the buyer. Due to the inherent conflict between ARLTA and the Purchase Contract, the buyer and seller should probably opt to enter into a prepossession agreement by way of an addendum rather than a lease. Significantly, if the parties make the prepossession agreement an addendum to the parties' Purchase Contract, ARLTA should not apply. See A.R.S. § 33-1308.

Items the buyer and seller may want to address in a prepossession agreement are:

- Insurance: Who is responsible in the case of damage to the property? What damage is insured? The seller of the home should review their homeowners policy and confirm with their insurer whether a tenant in the property changes any of the terms of their policy. Additionally, the buyer may want to purchase renter's insurance until the buyer legally owns the home.
- Walkthrough: Did the parties agree on the condition of the premises prior to the buyer's prepossession (e.g. walk through inspection)? What if the buyer claims the property is not in substantially the same condition and requests additional items for the seller to correct?
- Repairs and Maintenance: Who is responsible for repairs? The parties should address who is responsible for any repairs and maintenance of the property during the prepossession. The parties may want to consider purchasing a home warranty that will cover the property prior to close of escrow.
- Occupancy Rights: Who will occupy the property? Are animals allowed? Is smoking allowed?
- Rental Payments: How much rent will be charged for the prepossession? Who pays the utility bills during the prepossession?

- Security Deposit: Will there be an additional security deposit in case the sale falls through and the property is damaged?
- Buyer Contingencies: What if there are contingencies that have not been met prior to the buyer's prepossession? Have the parties decided to waive the contingencies or are they still in place therefore allowing the buyer to cancel the Purchase Contract if a contingency is not met?
- Alterations: What if the buyer moves in and begins to alter the property and later finds out they cannot purchase the property?
- Buyer's Remorse/Failed Transaction: What happens if the sale is not completed? When does the buyer/tenant have to move out? What happens if the buyer/tenant refuses to move out?

Post Possession

Because the obligations in the Purchase Contract are fulfilled following close of escrow, the parties can choose to either enter into a lease agreement (which would be governed by ARLTA) or a post possession agreement. The decision of which type of agreement is appropriate may include a discussion of whether the post possession is for 3 days or 30 days. Regardless of which avenue the parties decide, the parties should be aware that the obligations to repair and maintain the property are no longer the seller's responsibility; they are the buyer's responsibility. Accordingly, at a minimum, the parties should address the following:

- Insurance – Homeowners and Renters: The buyer will most likely have a homeowners policy. The seller should purchase a renters policy.
- Property Condition: The condition of the property prior to tenancy should be well documented and agreed on by both parties (e.g. move in/move out inspection). The parties may further want to consider purchasing a home warranty.
- Term: The tenancy period should be determined. The parties should further discuss what happens if the seller needs to stay in the property for a longer or shorter period of time than the agreement states.

- Security Deposit: Will there be a security deposit in case the seller damages anything in the property during seller's tenancy? If using a lease agreement, ARLTA provides that a landlord cannot charge more than 1.5 times the amount of one month's rent. See R.S. §33-1321.
- Rental Payments: How much is rent? Will rent be prorated?
- Occupancy Rights: Who will occupy the property? Are there any animals? Is smoking permitted?
- Utilities: Who pays the utility bills?

Due to the risk and liability involved with prepossession and post possession of a property, the best practice is for the parties to not enter into a prepossession or post possession agreement. However, if the parties insist on entering into such an agreement, the real estate agent should consult with their broker and advise their client to seek appropriate counsel from insurance, legal, tax, and accounting professionals regarding the risks.

BINSR Basics

K. MICHELLE LIND, ESQ., ARIZONA ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

“Is the BINSR the Time to ‘Renegotiate’ the Price?” and Other Frequently Asked Questions

Although the form has been around for several years, we have received multiple inquiries on the Legal Hotline addressing the use of the Residential Buyer’s Inspection Notice and Seller’s Response \(BINSR\). The purpose of the BINSR is two-fold. First, the buyers acknowledge that they have done all desired inspections, verified important information, and make certain acknowledgements with respect to the inspection and the information available. The second purpose is for the parties to negotiate the repair of items disapproved during the inspection.

Below are some frequently asked questions that summarize the issues that we have addressed on the hotline recently:

Is the BINSR the time to “renegotiate” the price?

No. The BINSR is not designed to be used as tool to renegotiate the purchase price. The BINSR is designed to give the seller an opportunity to fix or correct items disapproved during the inspection process. In the real world, the parties often use the BINSR as a mechanism to negotiate purchase price. Bear in mind, however, that is not the proper use of the form.

Do the parties have to sign the BINSR?

Yes. The BINSR is in effect an addendum to the contract. Accordingly, based on the statute of frauds, the BINSR must be signed by all parties to be enforceable. Additionally, based on community property principals, if a husband and wife are involved, both spouses need to sign the BINSR.

Must a licensed contractor be utilized to make the requested repairs?

A contractor’s license is required by statute for work that exceeds $1,000 in value. Thus, to the extent that the requested repairs exceed $1,000, the seller should hire a licensed contractor to make those repairs.

If the buyer forgets to request that an item be repaired, may he reissue another BINSR?

The BINSR specifically says on the first page that the “Buyer is not entitled to change or modify Buyer’s election after this notice is delivered to Seller.” Therefore, it is critical that the buyer identify all items to be repaired in the BINSR the first time.

Does the buyer need to ask that warranted items be repaired as part of the BINSR?

Yes. The seller warrants in section 5(a) of the contract that all heating, cooling, mechanical, plumbing and electrical systems will be in working condition at the close of escrow. Lines 255 – 256 of the contract state “Buyer shall provide Seller with notice of any non-working warranted item(s) of which Buyer becomes aware during the Inspection Period or the Seller warranty for that item(s) shall be waived.” In the event that a warranted item is not working, buyer should therefore notify the seller by way of the BINSR which provides a section on the second page whereby the buyer can advise the seller of the specific non-working warranted item(s).

Can a buyer waive the inspection and BINSR process?

Under virtually all circumstances, the buyer should not waive an inspection. However, if the buyer disregards the advice given by the agent and set forth in multiple AAR transaction forms, a buyer may waive an inspection. Assuming that the buyer elects to waive the inspection, the signature line on page 2 of the BINSR should be signed by the buyer. The agent should keep a copy of the BINSR waiving the inspections for safe keeping in case a claim subsequently arises.

A Designated Broker Must Review and Initial Contracts and Listings Within Ten Days of Execution

FACTS: The broker originally understood that administrative review and initialing listing agreements and purchase contracts pursuant to A.R.S. § 32-2151.01\(G\) was ten days after close of escrow. Therefore, there were approximately twenty transactions handled by the brokerage firm where the broker did not initial the documents until after the close of escrow. The broker reviewed the documents in these circumstances as they were processed. However, he did not initial them within the timeframe as required by the statute.

The broker is concerned about losing his license over this administrative mistake.

ISSUE: Is the broker's license in jeopardy?

ANSWER: Probably not.

DISCUSSION: A.R.S. § 32-2151.01(G) does require that the designated broker "review each listing agreement, purchase or non-residential lease agreement or similar instrument within ten days of the date of execution by placing the broker's initials and date of review on the instrument. . . ." Thus, the initials are required ten (10) days after the document is fully executed, not ten days after the close of escrow. However, here the broker complied in substance with the rule by reviewing the transaction documents as they came in. The administrative error of initialing after close of escrow, instead of after the document was fully executed, should not place the broker's license in jeopardy. Nonetheless, it should be noted the broker may be penalized by the Arizona Department of Real Estate for his non-compliance.

Financing Contingency Expires Three Days Before the Close of Escrow

FACTS: Two weeks before the close of escrow, the buyer failed to qualify for financing. The buyer notified the seller that she failed to qualify. However, the buyer reassured the seller that she would be able to qualify with another lender. Nonetheless, the seller issued a Cure Notice citing that the change in financing would delay close of escrow under Section 2L of the AAR Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract

ISSUE: Is the Seller's Cure Notice valid where the change in financing will not delay the close of escrow?

ANSWER: No.

DISCUSSION: Under Section 2b of the Contract, the financing contingency does not expire until three days before close of escrow. At such time, if the loan is not approved and loan documents are not signed, the seller can issue a Cure Notice under Section 7a of the Contract for: (1) failure to sign loan documents; and (2) the unfulfilled loan contingency. During the three day cure period, the buyer still has the ability to issue an Unfulfilled Loan Contingency Notice to the seller to cancel the Contract and receive her earnest money back. Alternatively, if the buyer does not qualify, for a loan the buyer can still waive the financing contingency by the closing date, assuming the buyer has access to the necessary funds to do so.

Buyer Cannot Switch Between Identified Lenders Without Potential Consequences

FACTS: When the buyer submitted the Pre-Qualification Form (Pre-Qual) with the Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract (Contract), Lender A was identified. Thereafter, when the Loan Status Update (LSU) was submitted to seller, Lender B was identified. Although buyer was moving forward with Lender B, buyer switched back to Lender A because buyer decided he liked Lender A's loan program more.

ISSUE: Can the buyer switch back to Lender A without either notifying the seller or obtaining seller's written consent?

ANSWER: See discussion.

DISCUSSION: Although Lender A and Lender B are each identified during the transaction, it does not give the buyer the right to switch back and forth between the two without consequences. In determining when a lender change requires notification and/or seller's written consent, the parties should look to which form prevails – the Pre-Qual or LSU. The form that prevails is the form that is most recent in time. Typically, this will be the lender identified in the LSU. Assuming Lender B is the most recent identified lender, buyer must immediately notify seller of the change in lender pursuant to section 2I of the Contract. Additionally, if switching to Lender B “adversely affect[s] Buyer’s ability to obtain loan approval without PTD conditions, increase Seller’s closing costs, or delay COE” buyer must receive seller’s written consent prior to changing lenders.

BINSR Response Times Are Critical

FACTS: The buyer and seller executed an AAR Residential Resale Real Estate Purchase Contract (“Contract”). The buyer thereafter requested certain non-warranted repairs in the Residential Buyer’s Inspection Notice and Seller’s Response (“BINSR”). The seller did not respond within five days as required. After being prompted, the seller eventually did respond to the BINSR eight days after it was issued. In that response, the seller indicated that she would make no repairs. Five days after the seller’s response, the buyer elected to cancel the Contract.

ISSUE: Is the buyer’s cancellation effective?

ANSWER: See Discussion.

DISCUSSION: Section 6j of the Contract (lines 241-242) provides that the seller’s failure to respond to the buyer’s request for repairs within five days is conclusively deemed to be the seller’s refusal to correct any of the items disapproved. Accordingly, by virtue of the language in the Contract, the lack of a timely response by the seller is deemed to be a rejection of the requested repairs.

Additionally, lines 246-249 of the Contract address the buyer’s ability to cancel if the seller rejects the requested repairs. Specifically the language provides that the “Buyer may cancel this Contract within five (5) days after delivery of Seller’s response or after expiration of the time for Seller’s response, whichever occurs first....” Thus, to effectively cancel, the buyer needed to provide notice within five days after the seller’s response was due. The purported cancellation five days after the seller provided the notice of rejection (which was late in the first place) was not timely and does not cancel the Contract.

BINSR Must Be Sent To Correct Email Address To Be Effective

FACTS: The buyer’s agent uses DocuSign for sales transactions. In this instance, the buyer’s agent attempted to send the BINSR to the listing agent through DocuSign on the 10th day of the inspection period. Unfortunately, the wrong email address was used and the BINSR was not delivered to the listing agent within the time period prescribed by the purchase contract.

ISSUE: If the buyer attempts to cancel the contract, will he forfeit his earnest money deposit?

ANSWER: Probably.

DISCUSSION: Section 6i of the purchase contract provides that a buyer must deliver a signed notice to the seller of any items disapproved, prior to expiration of the inspection period. Pursuant to section 8m of the purchase contract, “delivery of all notices and documentation required or permitted hereunder shall be in writing and deemed delivered and received when: ... (iii) sent via electronic mail, if email addresses are provided herein.”

According to A.R.S. § 44-7015(A) (1): Unless otherwise agreed to by the sender and the recipient, an electronic record is sent if the record is properly addressed or otherwise properly directed to an information processing system that the recipient has designated or uses for the purpose of receiving electronic records or information of the type sent and from which the recipient is able to retrieve the electronic record.

In this case, the email was not properly addressed to the listing agent’s designated email address. Therefore, when the BINSR was sent to the wrong email address, delivery of the BINSR was not effectuated within the applicable timeframe. If the buyer now attempts to cancel the contract due to disapproved items, he will forfeit his earnest money deposit.

Agent Must Recommend Professional Advice Prior to Pre-Possession Agreement

FACTS: The buyer wants to take possession of the property before the close of escrow. The seller, who does not occupy the premises, has no objection to this pre-possession.

ISSUE: May the listing agent draft a pre-possession agreement to facilitate the parties’ desires?

ANSWER: See Discussion.

DISCUSSION: The listing agent may assist the parties in preparing a pre-possession agreement. However, the Commissioner’s Rules require that the listing agent recommend that the clients seek “appropriate counsel from insurance, legal, tax and accounting professionals regarding the risks of a pre-possession" agreement beforehand. See A.A.C. R4-28-1101(K).
